Thank you for purchasing Nammo WebEditor 3.0.

Below are instructions for the use of this manual.

In Chapter 1, you will learn some of the basic controls in Nammo WebEditor. You will be taken through the entire process of creating a Web site, from building and modifying it, to using the newly added Template Wizard, to publishing it to the Internet. Chapter 1 will also show you how to import the contents of any Web site and e-mail forward it to where you want.

From Chapters 2 to 10, the manual goes through every command on the program menu, in the same order as you see it in Nammo WebEditor. When necessary, additional information is provided in the form of References or Cautions.

In Chapter 11, you get to learn about advanced Internet development technologies like layer, Time Line, Nammo GIF Animator, background information and the usage of Global IME. If animation effects using a layer is interesting to you, refer to the layer and Time Line sections in this chapter. If you want to input Japanese or Chinese into your HTML document, the part on the Global IME will be helpful to you.

At the end of the manual is the Index where you can get to any part of the manual quickly and easily.

More information on using Nammo WebEditor is available in the online manual at <http://www.nammo.com/manual>. Please note that you must register your software immediately upon installation. Also, customer support will only be provided once you have registered your software.
